Art Unit: 1722

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a device for positioning a hole former within a casting mold, classified in class 249, subclass 142.

II. Claims 11-19, drawn to a method of positioning a hole former to be used in cast material within a casting mold, classified in class 29, subclass 428.

III. Claim 20, drawn to a cast object with a hole, classified in class 52, subclass 576.

2. Inventions Group II and Group I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process. MPEP § 806.05(f). In the instant case the product (device) can be made by another and materially different process such as a process wherein the hole former assembly is not attached to the second end of the bracket, but rather some other part of the bracket.

3. Inventions Group II and Group III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process. MPEP § 806.05(f). In the instant case the product could be made by another and materially different process such as a process using a bracket assembly attached to the mold by a bolt connection rather than a magnet assembly.

It is noted that Group III presents the product in product by process form. The determination of patentability in product by process claims is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Brown, 459 F.2d 531, 535, 173 USPQ 685, 688 (CCPA 1972); In re Pilkington, 411 F.2d 1345, 1348, 162 USPQ 145, 147 (CCPA 1969); MPEP § 2113; see also In re Bridgeford, 357 F.2d 679, 149 USPQ 55 (Cust. & Pat. App. 1966) (holding a product defined by the process by which it can be made is still a product claim and can be restricted from the process if the examiner can demonstrate that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process).

4. Inventions Group I and Group III are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus. MPEP § 806.05(g). In this case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus such as an apparatus wherein the bracket is attached to the mold by a bolt or screw connection, with the bracket therefore not comprising a magnet assembly.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
